

22.1x10.62	1	עמוד 17	the jerusalem post - front	05/11/2017	60884290-7
הכפר הירוק בית הספ - 90290

GRAPEVINE

• By GREER FAY CASHMAN

FROM RIGHT: Rachele Schilo, Eastern Mediterranean International School director of development; Ali Haj Mohammed, a teacher at EMIS; Emanuele Giaufret, head of EU Delegation to Israel; Margarida Mano, Union for the Mediterranean; Joao Bernardo Weinstein, ambassador of Portugal; Kobi Naveh, director of Hakfar Hayarak; Anu Saarela, ambassador of Finland; and Oded Rose, EMIS. (Courtesy)

SEVERAL DIPLOMATS – among them Ambassador Anu Saarela from Finland, Ambassador-designate Joao Bernardo Weinstein from Portugal, Ambassador Emanuele Giaufret, the head of the European Union Delegation to Israel, and Margarida Mano, the chairwoman of the committee on Economics, Financial Affairs, Social Affairs and Education of the Parliamentary Assembly of the Union for the Mediterranean – attended the opening of the third annual Youth Organized Collaboration on Peace and Sustainability, which was held at the Eastern Mediterranean International School at Hakfar Hayarak Youth Village.

Among the 250-plus students and guests from more than 40 countries who attended the three-day conference were representatives from Gaza and the West Bank.